probably will not be for a generation to It is doubtless true that occasionally a horse may be found so naturally or inherent-ly vicious as to try severely even the pa-tience of a saint. But as a general thing the horse may be found so naturally or innervitly vicious as to try severely even the patience of a saint. But as a general thing the horse is the saint and his manager the sinuer rendered disinclined to work in consequence of a lack of suitable food and proper groom-ing after the day's labor is performed. This results often from carelessness rather than from a disposition to maltreat the animal, but in too many instances ill-treatment flows from a cruel disposition on the part of the manager. A morose, fractious person is not fit to have the charge of a horse. A few days since we saw a practical illustration of this. A man was passing along the street with a loaded wagon. One of the wheels struck a stone, causing a portion of the load to topple off and fall to the ground. The horses were not to blame for this, yet the driver beat them most numercifully bethe load to toppie on and an to the ground. The horses were not to blame for this, yet the driver beat them most unmercifully because of the mishap. "A Baptist elergyman, studying medicine to find remedies for his ailments, with a delicate, consump-tive look, standing with one foot upon the grave, he made the discovery which saved himself, and called out from others the strongest testimonials possible. We have known Dr. Poland for years, and never know a more consolentions, honest, upright man, and are glad to state that we believe whatever he says about his White Pine Compound."
